Compliments of Agilent

CHROMacademy is an intuitive, comprehensive e-learning platform with more than 3,000 pages of content for HPLC, GC, MS, IR, and sample preparation. It is the world's largest website for separation scientists, packed with validated theoretical and practical information.

- Monthly webcasts to expand your knowledge from the convenience of your desk
- Multi-media and video tutorials to enhance your skills at your own pace
- Interactive experiments, lab simulations, and tools to improve your productivity
- Applications, news, and feature articles from world leaders in analytical science
- Troubleshooting modules based on real-world laboratory experience to help you solve common problems
- Interactive discussion forum provides technical and application assistance

All of this can be yours for free, thanks to Agilent. Simply log on to www.chromacademy.com/agilent, register, and receive your complimentary five year membership***.

* Five years free access to CHROMacademy only available to customers affiliated with an academic or research institution, conditions apply. A valid university e-mail address is required.
